

The site of the new Plant Introduction Field Station at Miami (Buena Vista), Florida before any improvements whatever had been made upon it. A complete list of the native flowering plants to be found upon the site has been made by Prof. Chas. T. Simpson and a small area has been set aside on which will be maintained as long as feasible a sample of the original flora. The most conspicuous plants in the photograph are the Cuban Pine (Pinus caribaea) and the Palmetto (Inodes (Sabal) etonia). Mr. Fairchild and Mr. Simmonds are standing at the left.
